

Journal of Cultural Heritage Management and Sustainable Development

Enjoy free access to our special 'Planning and Heritage' issue

Dear All,

I'm Editor of Emerald's Journal of Cultural Heritage Management and Sustainable Development (JCHMSD). To celebrate, Emerald have set up complimentary access to JCHMSD's Special Issue 'Planning and Heritage' throughout December 2015.

For free access to these papers until the end of the year, please click the links below (please note, you will be taken to a registration page on your first visit).

- Planning and heritage
- The roles of artists' collective in the Gdansk Shipyard's heritage protection
- A value-based monitoring system to support heritage conservation planning
- The complexity of becoming: collaborative planning and cultural heritage
- Planning and commitment in cultural heritage projects
- Urban planning and industrial heritage – a Norwegian case study

This special issue has received over 2,200 downloads and includes research papers from internationally renowned authors. JCHMSD is included in both Thomson Reuters new Emerging Sources Citations Index (ESCI) and in Scopus.

JCHMSD stimulates and encourages research devoted to both sustainable development and the positive contribution of cultural heritage management towards a sustainable environment. If you're interested in writing for JCHMSD please contact me via my email below or visit JCHMSD's author guidelines. When submitting via ScholarOne Manuscripts, please ensure you complete the box "How did you hear about this journal?" quoting reference DEC 2015.

I look forward to visiting your university.

Kind regards,

Ana Pereira-Rodgers, Editor JCHMSD, a.r.pereira-rodgers@tue.nl

Visit JCHMSD's webpage to find the journal's aims and scope and how to submit your research paper.